An Open and Affirming Congregation

Church of Christ Vision Statement:

Worship God, Serve our neighbors, Share God's love.

A Message from the Interim Pastor

Our witness is vital and essential.

I am proud of this congregation. Being brand new in your midst when the social unrest concerning the death of yet another Black person, George Floyd, exploded, I had no idea how you would respond. The leadership of this congregation stepped up to the moral challenge by setting aside time for folks to discuss race issues and how those issues impact the church, the town and beyond during three different "Sacred Conversations on Race" opportunities. Members of the congregation marched and attended rallies. A small Black Lives Matter sign was placed in front of the church for about a month. The Diaconate voted to keep it out there for another month, at least. Folks have been reading and watching documentaries. So much is being learned and shared as our first discussions on White Privilege are drawing to a close. (Be watching for future discussions.) An important witness of love is being proclaimed.

Why is "Black Lives Matter" such a vital and essential message for us to publicly declare?

As disciples of Jesus Christ, we look to the teachings of Jesus to inform our actions. Jesus interacts with everyone. Jesus talks with and about the religious leaders and the national leaders, the sick and the lame, the prosperous and privileged, the poor in spirit and the downtrodden. Jesus teaches that everyone matters. And Jesus goes beyond and says, lepers matter<sup>1</sup>, Samaritans matter<sup>2</sup>, blind people matter<sup>3</sup>, those ostracized by society matter<sup>4</sup>. In some situations, Jesus goes so far as to disregard the law to do what is right for these subgroups of people<sup>5</sup>.

August Worship – Taking the Next Step

Ushers will seat you in pre-measured spaces for appropriate distancing.

- Stay home if you have any signs of infection, i.e. fever, cough, loss of smell/taste, scratchy throat or if you feel ill.

In Matthew 18 and Luke 15, Jesus tells the story of the shepherd leaving the 99 sheep to find and help the 1 missing sheep. Jesus demonstrates, that for everyone to matter, society needs to see who is being left behind, who is purposely being denied their rights, and after seeing, to fix the situation. Throughout Jesus' ministry, Jesus calls into question systems of oppression. As followers of Jesus we must do the same.

This is a social and humanitarian issue. When one segment of our society is neglected or purposely violated, our entire society suffers. The only people who can fix that, are those who have power. The Church that espouses a wide welcome is at the forefront of insuring that positive change happens. When we seek justice, we are saying to the system, a system of which we are a part, all lives matter and right now, we are not valuing Black lives.

This congregation was bold and courageous in taking a stand, by becoming Open and Affirming of people who are Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender. I am encouraged by the efforts of the leadership of this congregation to be bold and courageous in taking a stand that Black lives, which have been trampled on by systemic racism, matter. For over 400 years people who are Black have had their humanity denied. That denial is still being used to justify violence and discrimination. Now, just might be the moment in history where the tide changes.

What are some of the stumbling blocks before us?

- We are good people. Being a racist is seen as bad. Since we are good people, we can't be doing anything all that bad. It hurts to think we are being blamed for the discriminatory practices of others.
- Fear. There is fear. We have seen the way people who are Black are treated and we are afraid that if we stand with them, we will be treated the same. Jesus called out inequitable treatment of non-dominant groups and got himself killed.
- We are white. As white people, we benefit from this discriminatory system, mostly without us realizing it. We want people who are Black to get a fair share, and we don't want anything to change for us.

A teacher once gave each of the students in the classroom a wadded-up piece of paper. She then put the recycling bin in front of the room. She told the students this was a simulation exercise; those who, shooting from their seat, could get their paper in the bucket would move into the upper class and be rich. The people in the back called out against the unfairness of this as those in the other rows had an advantage. Interestingly, the people in the front row didn't complain at all. This is injustice. Not just the fact that some did not get the same opportunity as others, but those who were given greater opportunity did not use it to level the playing field. The front row could have suggested that every person get three tries, one from each of the rows, so everyone had an equal opportunity to succeed. But they didn't. It didn't cross their minds.

Jesus calls us to use our privilege to benefit more than ourselves. We are to use our privilege to help others. There are many kinds of privilege, white privilege is just one. We, most people in this congregation, happen to have white privilege because the benefits of the current system in which we live are skewed towards those with white skin. And the negatives of our current system, are skewed against those with dark skin. As Christians with white skin, we are called to use the privilege we have, to help those for whom the system is not just failing but conspiring against.

For this particular conversation, it does not matter if we are without economic privilege. It does not matter if we are without health privilege, it does not matter if we are without political privilege. All those privileges are for a different conversation at another time. This conversation is about Race. We, who have white privilege, are called to care about those who don't. Today's pressing societal conversation is about the neglect and willful disregard for Black Americans. Thank you for engaging in the conversation. Now, just might be the time for real meaningful change to happen for these underprivileged children of God.

I am proud to stand with you as you bear witness to God's love for all people.

Grace,

Jennifer

BREAKFAST CHURCH

Sunday Worship Service on Zoom
August 16 at 10:00am

On Sunday, August 16, instead of our usual worship service, Deacon Sue Conte will lead the church in a Virtual Breakfast Church at 10:00am. Zoom link information will be on the website and in the 8/14 Friday email.

After the opening of the service, you will be invited to enjoy a breakfast, snack, or perhaps just coffee that you have prepared. While we are virtually sharing our meal, we will read and then discuss a Bible passage. This will be a chance for everyone to participate in our Sunday service, while breaking bread together.

YOUTH GROUP SERVICE PROJECT EVENT

Tuesday, August 4 from 3-7pm

Covid may be delaying us from using the church building, but there are many cleaning projects that need our attention. The youth group will be holding a Service Project event to tackle some of these projects. Youth will receive service hours for their work.

Adults are welcome, too!

Special thanks to Paul and Nydia Rice for spending time cleaning the refrigerator and kitchen. We are grateful for their time!

Masks must be worn at all times. Youth leaders will organize tasks so that safety protocols can be followed. Please bring household cleaning gloves if you have them.

Message from the Deacons

It is hard to believe August is upon us. The past five months have certainly not been typical for any of us. During this time of the church building being closed, the work of the church has continued in earnest and it has kept the Deacons busy.

Thank you to everyone who completed the Next Steps Survey. The results have been very helpful in making decisions for moving forward regarding timelines and types of worship services. As the state has moved into Phase 3 of opening we now have written infectious disease policies and protocols developed by the COVID-19 response team aligned with the state and CDC guidelines for outdoor worship, the use of the church building for services, staff safety and for outside groups using the facilities. Thank you to Jan Krohn, Art Payne, Rev. Geary and members of the Trustees for their work on this daunting task.

Mark your calendars! We are planning two in-person outdoor services (weather permitting) on August 9th and 23rd. These services will also be live on ZOOM. Please check the special section of the Spire that outlines the protocol information for attending.

August also brings us into Rev. Geary's third month as our Interim Minister. It has been a pleasure to get to know and work with her, as this has been a very different introduction for her to our church as well as us to her.

It can be easy to forget we have work to do during this interim time. This is the time to ask yourself what talent, time, and expertise you have to share with the process going forward. It is not up to the Deacons or other officers of the church to make the decisions on their own. WE NEED YOU!

One last note. Our gathering to officially say goodbye to Rev. Jen will be held on Saturday, August 15, from 1 to 3 PM on the back lawn of the church. This is a rain or shine event. The same protocols for outdoor services will be followed. Bring your own snacks and drinks if you want. No food or drink will be provided. That being said, this will be a time to chat, laugh and to let Rev. Jen and her family know how much we appreciated their time with us. All socially distanced of course. :)

Be Well,
Wendy Schneider & Sue Conte, Co-Lead Deacons

PRIORITY! VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Church of Christ is always in need of volunteers willing to lend their time and talent to keep our church vibrant for our members and the community. For a list of all current volunteer opportunities, click here.

Our highest priorities are:

Serve on the TRANSITION TEAM to help us find our next settled pastor. We are in the process of reviewing our database and membership lists, and will soon begin to develop the church profile, which serves as a roadmap for where we've been, and what we want our future to look like.

Assist us with TECHNOLOGY. Covid has pushed us to find creative and remote ways to connect with our members and friends. We have some knowledge, but would greatly benefit from having several volunteers with even a little experience to help guide us in our various technological challenges. Even once we're able to worship in-person again, our on-line offerings will continue.

If you are interested in volunteering or want to learn more, leave a message at the church and someone will respond. Phone: (508) 376-5034, or Email: millisucc@msn.com.

Missing Church

I miss church.

I miss the spot in the sanctuary where I tend to sit, on the left-hand side, the south side. It is the same side I live in our town, divided down the middle by a state highway. We did not choose the spot for any particular reason: it just felt right to us when we first entered the sanctuary over 30 years ago.

I know that church isn't the structure, but the people who fill that structure, who give it life, on Sunday mornings. On Sundays, but also on Food Pantry Saturdays, and the Monday Morning drop-in group that meets in the parlor for handwork and catch-ups and laughter and tears and loving support. It is the lively Christmas Fair, and church suppers. It is the Visitors, who do just that - visit the sick and the shut-ins and mail cards and notes... except we are all shut-ins now to some extent.

It is the church youth groups with their meetings and suppers and outreach and work projects. They give me hope for the future of our world.

It is the children, always the children, scattered throughout the congregation and then gathering like chicks for the Children's Story before church school.

It is the committed teachers and youth leaders, the committee members, the volunteers who clean and repair and cook and organize.

It is the music director and it is the choir, which sings with such heart that age and dwindling numbers do nothing to dull the brilliance of their songs.

It is the Deacons, ever-present, to serve: as readers, as ushers, as collectors of offerings. As servers at the Communion table.

It is the pastor, who guides us all.

Our world is not now what it was at the turn of the New Year. 2020 came roaring at us like a wild nightmare beast, and it is still tearing apart the fabric of our lives. We struggle to find answers to impossible questions.

We have work to do, God's work, of comforting, reaching out, helping in any way we can. Now more than ever we are called to be a visible Church in this broken world.

Yet when we most need to come together for worship, we have only the ability to gather virtually on-line. Many of us are tech-savvy; for many others, it is just one more struggle in adapting to this new way of living and being together.

I miss church. I do miss the sanctuary and my favorite spot to sit. I miss the way the sunlight pours in through the windows. I miss the soaring height of the room, all that space. I miss the hard, polished wood of the pews. I miss the Light, the sense of Spirit. It is truly sacred space.

Someday we will return to that physical space. Someday we will greet each other joyously, face to face, with hugs. But for now we must carry that hope in our hearts.

And we must be the shining Church in the world in all the ways we can.
